FLUSHING, N.Y., April 27, 2015 — The Queens College Gala was begun in 1990 to honor those individuals whose successful careers and dedication to philanthropy and public service serve as models for QC students. Funds raised are used primarily for student scholarships. This year's gala will present the Alumni Award to Mark E. Rose '85, chairman and CEO, Avison Young (Canada) Inc.; the President's Award to Dina N. Perry '67, senior VP, Capital Research & Management Company; and the Lifetime Achievement Award to Carol J. Deloitte listed Avison Young as one of Canada's Best Managed Companies for 2011, 2012, and 2013, and named it a Gold Standard winner in 2014. Also in 2014, Commercial Property News named Rose one of its Service Executives of the Year. Rose joined Avison Young after holding executive positions at Grubb & Ellis Company and Jones Lang LaSalle. He earned a BA in Accounting from Queens College, where he held student government positions and played on the hockey team. In addition to serving on the Queens College Foundation's board of trustees, he coaches developing leaders through the NAIOP Greater Toronto Chapter Mentorship Program.
