Retail Market Braces for Influx of New Residents, More Jobs

The rosy picture economists painted for 2019 in Metro Phoenix and the latest U.S. Census Bureau data are giving the Valley's retail market continued boosts. While retail has faced headwinds nationally, the Phoenix Market remains strong and exhibits healthy property fundamentals. Consumer confidence is high. The unemployment rate is low. Businesses are looking to grow and expand. Retailers are absorbing space. Data released by the Census Bureau shows Maricopa County was the fastest-growing county in the U.S. last year with an average of 263 people moving to the Valley daily.

Rental Rates

First quarter 2019 rental rates were $16.09 per square foot (psf), following $15.85 psf in 4Q 2018. Year over year rents have increased by 5.5%. Asking average total NNN rates were highest in Central Scottsdale with $25.55 sf; North Scottsdale with $22.70 sf; Loop 101/I-10 with $21.04 sf; Deer Valley with $20.72 sf; and Downtown Phoenix with $20.03 sf. North Scottsdale held almost even this quarter at $22.70 psf over 4Q 2018 which was at $22.99 psf. Central Scottsdale increased to $25.55 this quarter from $24.80 in 4Q 2018.

Vacancy

Vacancy held steady in the first quarter at 7.1%, a modest increase of 10 basis points from 4Q 2018. The 7.1% is still near a historic low, as tenants continue to opt for scoop up bargains. While the quarter saw 119,020 sf of negative absorption, the first negative number in nearly five years, the majority of this was due to Sears closing locations.
