Three historic properties sold in downtown Inman, South Carolina signaling continued progress of revitalization project

Greenville, SC – Rakan Draz and John Odom, CCIM of Avison Young's Greenville Office, represented the owner in the sale of three historic downtown retail properties located at 13 N. Main Street, 10-12 Mill Street, and 14 Mill Street in Inman, South Carolina.

"The continued beautification efforts by the city, walkability of the downtown landscape and the proximity to downtown Spartanburg and Tryon's Equestrian Center, poise Inman for continued growth," said Draz, Senior Associate. "This community is an ideal place for small business owners and investors to capitalize in Upstate South Carolina's growth."

13 N. Main Street is a 3,400 sf retail building and sold to Kristi and David Walker. 10-12 Mill Street is 3,807 sf retail building and sold to Timur Ibragimov & Svetlana Divinets. 14 Mill St is a 1,700 sf retail building and sold to Dmitry Divinets and Mariia Kolpakova.

The sale of these properties show that steady progress is being made in the city's revitalization and beautification efforts.

Draz and Odom are Senior Associates on the Avison Young retail brokerage team, specializing in landlord and tenant representation and investment sales.
